

The Washington Foundation for the Environment presents:

A Roundtable Discussion With Peter Goldmark, Washington's New Commissioner of Public Lands

Monday, May 4, 2009

at the Seattle Aquarium,
1483 Alaskan Way

Co-Sponsors: Seattle Aquarium, Seattle Aquarium Society, People For Puget Sound, National Wildlife Federation, Seattle Public Utilities, King County Water & Lands Division, Futurewise, Sierra Club, Climate Solutions, CH2MHill and K&L Gates

6:00 – 6:30 p.m. - Appetizers and socializing

6:30 – 7:30 p.m. - Program

Peter Goldmark took office as Washington's new Commissioner of Public Lands in January 2009.

The Commissioner heads up the State Department of Natural Resources and oversees the management of 3 million acres of state lands, including forests, beaches and aquatic "lands" underneath Puget Sound.

Here's your chance to learn about his plans for bringing science, sustainability and economic opportunity to bear in his new role as the manager of our state lands during these challenging economic times. His topics will range from the conversion of forest lands for development, sustainable timber practices and wildfires, to climate change, clean water and Puget Sound.

Come with your questions ready!

Kindly RSVP by May 1.

This is a free event, donations welcome.
For questions or to RSVP, please email info@wffe.org.